Lux Elements: Systems for wellness

Leverkusen, 09.01.2023

New modular room constructions

In October 22, Lux Elements published the new edition of the product range "Systems for wellness" for 2022/23. As always, articles for individual room constructions, shower units, baths and pools are offered here. A new addition is building kits for modular room construction in fixed defined sizes.

Standardised products for short delivery times

The new product range is divided into three sections:
In the first part "Modular room constructions – Module Room", ten building kits are presented in different sizes for standardised room constructions. The cabins with dome roof for 3 to 8 people can be used flexibly as warm or cold rooms. For use as a steam bath, appropriate steam inlet variants and a floor with drainage technology are offered. For the interior equipment of the cabins, there is a choice of two seat forms with optional heating mats and light strips.
The assembly accessories are also available directly from Lux Elements. The required components are offered as complete kits that are adapted to the size and use of the cabin.

Individual planning with Concept Room

The second part of the product range contains the products for individual room constructions – Concept Room. Here you can choose from predesigned components – from roof to seat variants, glass and profile constructions and technical mounting parts. Unlike Module Room, the dimensions are flexible in the case of Concept Room. An individual wellness room is thus created from the individual components. In addition, completely free planning and the manufacture of round forms are possible.

Wide range of products for the wellness area

The third part of the product range covers supplementary products for the wellness area. Here you will find tried-and-tested standard articles such as round and curved showers, relaxation loungers, concave trims and rounding elements. In addition, examples of tailor-made and custom manufactured products for shower units, pools, baths and wellness furniture are presented.

The "Systems for wellness" catalogue can be downloaded from the website Lux Elements www.luxelements.com. In addition, it can be ordered as a hard copy using the contact form.
